Drawing and dreaming since childhood, Dave Barton Thomas enjoys the creative process immensely and has been known to go for hours without food or water while immersed in artistic endeavor.

When it came to deciding between physics and film-making, Dave realized he would have infinitely more fun in film. Enrolling in Sheridan College's Media Program, he created both live and animated short films, one of which, Claydreaming, he sold to HBO.

Dave has worked on a variety of projects that encompass stop-motion, pixellation, 2D, cutout and live-action. He has directed award-winning commercials, show opens, promos, television specials and series for clients that include Warner Brothers, ABC Family, MTV2, AAC Kids, HBO, The Tornante Company and Mattel.
